7. Prospects

In the Engineering & Construction division, whilst there have been some delays in the first quarter of the year, construction activities have since picked up pace and is expected to improve in the coming quarters. Further, the Group has tendered for RM3.87 billion worth of contracts in Malaysia and overseas and is optimistic of replenishing its order books based on our experience and good track record. With the easing of travel restrictions post-Covid, the Group has also reached out to re-connect with and re-commence business development activities in our traditional overseas markets in Sri Lanka and Vietnam.

As for prospects in the Healthcare Division, the Malaysian Rubber Glove Manufacturers Association (Margma) expects global demand for rubber gloves in 2022 to remain resilient with an annual year-on-year growth of between 12% and 15%. On the flip side, glove prices had fallen closer to pre-Covid levels, with the current ASP being US$25-35 per thousand pieces compared to the pre-pandemic ASP of US$21 per thousand pieces. Nevertheless, the Group has taken proactive measures by maintaining effective cost-control measures and ensuring operational efficiency in its production processes through investments in automation to improve overall productivity. Besides this, the division also invests in R&D to develop new glove products, enhance quality and function with a view of higher margins to expand the division's income stream.

Both Technology Services Division and Transportation Division are contributing positive and recurrent income to the Group's performance.
